On 9 April, the Board of Directors unanimously approved Julien Carmona's candidacy for the position of director of Crédit Mutuel Arkéa with a view to becoming its chairman. Following this first step, Julien Carmona met the Chairmen of the local banks of Crédit Mutuel de Bretagne and Crédit Mutuel du Sud-Ouest. At the General Meeting on 11 May, they elected him as a director of Crédit Mutuel Arkéa for a renewable three-year term, with 94.5% of the votes cast.

Following the Board of Directors meeting held this morning, which unanimously appointed him, Julien Carmona is now Chairman of Crédit Mutuel Arkéa.

"I would like to thank all the directors of Crédit Mutuel Arkéa and the Chairmen of the local banks of Crédit Mutuel Bretagne and Crédit Mutuel du Sud-Ouest for their confidence. I have observed and admired the remarkable development of Crédit Mutuel Arkéa for many years, and it is an honour to become its Chairman and to succeed Jean-Pierre Denis. I salute his commitment and immense work in the service of the group's growth. The financial sector today faces considerable challenges and must reinvent itself. Crédit Mutuel Arkéa has the capacity to support these profound economic, social and environmental changes. The agility conferred by its intermediate size, its strong regional roots and its capacity for innovation have, over time, nurtured this unique model, which serves to finance the real economy and support members and customers in their life projects. It is with pride and enthusiasm that I commit myself, alongside the management team led by Hélène Bernicot and Anne Le Goff, and all the employees and directors of Crédit Mutuel Arkéa, to continuing the history of this resolutely unique group. »
